Gov. Steve Beshear was in West Liberty on Oct. 31 to present city and county officials with a symbolic check for $400,000 for the initial design phase of a project to widen parts of Main and Prestonsburg streets. The governor also presented a second check for $416,000 to officials for repairs to tornado-damaged streets and roads. Kentucky Transportation Secretary Mike Hancock, State Rep. John Will Stacy and State Sen. Robert Stivers looked on as Judge Executive Tim Conley, Mayor Jim Rupe, city council members and magistrates accepted the funding.

State funding totals $816,000; Main, P-burg streets to be widened

By Miranda M. Cantrell

Gov. Steve Beshear presented local officials with two symbolic checks totaling $816,000 during a Nov. 1 visit to West Liberty to announce a $7.2 million project to widen Main and Prestonsburg streets as part of a joint city/county reconstruction effort.

Judge Executive Tim Conley and Mayor Jim Rupe accepted a $400,000 check from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet's state road contingency fund to pay for initial design work on the widening project, which involves the construction of a turn lane beginning at the county government building on Prestonsburg Street that would continue through Main Street to the Court Street intersection.

The widening would also extend the other direction toward Route 7 to Wildcat Carwash.

"Widening Main Street and Prestonsburg Street will benefit travelers of West Liberty in two ways," Gov. Beshear said. "It will relieve a chronic traffic congestion point. At the same time, those who want to rebuild in the downtown area will know the exact footprint."

The governor also announced that Morgan County was approved for $416,000 from the Transportation Cabinet's Emergency Road Aid program for the repair of tornado-damaged streets and roads.

"An extraordinary disaster requires an extraordinary response," Gov. Beshear said. "Now we can turn more of our attention to the rebuilding of infrastructure. That includes repairing and improving the main transportation artery. We intend to get started quickly. We cannot wait until the legislature takes up a new Kentucky highway plan in 2014."

Kentucky Transportation Secretary Mike Hancock concurred.

"With planned reconstruction in downtown West Liberty, now is the right time to address the widening of Main Street and Prestonsburg Street," Hancock said.

Judge Executive Tim Conley lauded Gov. Beshear's efforts to assist Morgan County since March 2.

"Gov. Beshear and his entire team have shown true compassion and understanding to our needs," Conley said. "It certainly has not gone unnoticed. It takes an extraordinary governor to respond in devastating times. This governor has given 110 percent to the quality of life for our people."

Mayor Jim Rupe also offered his gratitude to the governor.

"This announcement by Gov. Beshear just magnifies his commitment and concern

Romney big winner in Morgan; Vance, Finch, Oldfield win bd. seats

Rogers, Stivers, Scott win; City Council is re-elected in Tues. vote

Republican Mitt Romney polled 67.5% of the votes cast for President in Morgan County Tuesday, defeating President Barack Obama by a vote of 3,021 to 1,369. Romney who lost to Obama nationally, polled nearly 1.1 million votes to carry Kentucky, sweeping 116 of the state's 120 counties. In Eastern Kentucky, only rock-solid Democratic Elliott County voted in favor of the President.

In Morgan, Romney carried all of the county's 12 precincts and won the absentee vote as well by overwhelming margins.

Republicans candidates also won big here for Congress and State Senator. Fifth District Congressman Hal Rogers coasted to an easy victory over Democrat Kenneth Stepp with a 3,097 to 1,246 vote majority. State Senator

A precinct by precinct recap of Tuesday's vote in Morgan County appears elsewhere in this edition.

Barack Obama, who carried only four of Kentucky's 120 counties, was re-elected to a second term as President in nationwide voting Tuesday.

Robert Stivers polled 56.9% of the votes cast in that race to defeat Democrat Ralph Hoskins by a 582 vote majority. Both Stivers and Rogers easily won re-election in their districts.

In a non-partisan race for Justice of the Kentucky Supreme Court for the 7th District, incumbent Will T. Scott, a Republican, won handily in Morgan, defeating Janet L. Stumbo, a Democrat, by a vote of 2,650 to 1,179. Scott, who narrowly defeated Stumbo eight years ago, was re-elected to the seat by a wide margin Tuesday.

A constitutional amendment to constitutionally insure the right of Kentuckians to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife in the state was approved with 3,321 Morgan Countians voting in favor and 361 voting no.

Funds delayed; agency urges applicants to check their vendors

The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance (LIHEAP) Program administered through the Northeast Kentucky Community Action Agency began taking applications for utility assistance on Monday, Nov. 5. But according to David Carroll, Executive Director of the agency, an important issue has arisen that both individuals applying for assistance and the heating source providers need to be aware of.

Grand jury returns indictments against eleven defendants

The Morgan Grand Jury recently returned 11 indictments against as many people, including a local man accused of stealing goods from the Red Cross shelter initially located at Morgan Central Elementary School following the March 2 tornado.

Daniel Leland, 55, of Malone, was charged with second degree robbery on March 5 for allegedly attempting to steal food intended for storm victims from the shelter, where he reportedly posed as a Red Cross volunteer and gathered several items including bottled water, 13 cases of ready-to-eat military-type meals and 10-15 "care packages" of food.

Kentucky State Police officials allege that Leland threatened Red Cross staffers when they questioned him about the food and claimed to the authorities that he planned to distribute the items in another county.

Leland, who had served as a Red Cross volunteer in the past, was not working for the agency when the incident occurred.

Also indicted for perjury in connection with the case was former Red Cross volunteer Peter Brandt, 46, of West Liberty, who State Police charged with giving false testimony that he permitted Leland to take the goods because Leland was authorized to dispense such items.

Brandt was affiliated with the local Red Cross chapter

THE WHEELS OF ACADEMIC PROGRESS ARE TURNING

Few would argue against the fact that education is the golden ring which will build a stronger future for our children and community. The new Kentucky Unbridled Learning Accountability Model clearly defines deficiencies in student testing and also marks improvement in a school's comprehensive efforts.

"The overriding goal of the state's public education system is to prepare students for the paths they want to take after high school, and these data show that we are making progress toward that goal." - Terry Holliday Kentucky Education Commissioner

SURROUNDING DISTRICT DATA

Wolfe	52.9	34

Lawrence	48.4	13
Elliott	46.9	10

Many Kentucky schools were rated deficient against their peers across the nation. But right here at home, West Liberty Elementary showed a significant rise in performance and is rated as proficient with a score of 62.6, well above the national average. Congratulations educators on your ongoing progress in Morgan County and we commend each teacher who is helping to create a brighter future for our community's children.

Endowment Can Help Boost Recovery

Judge executives and community leaders in a number of Kentucky counties are lauding the creation of private endowments for their counties through the help of regional community foundations. The endowments will help meet the requests from non-profit agencies, for scholarships or funding for the arts, education, or health and human services.

Rural communities often have difficulty attracting philanthropy, but community foundations like the Bluegrass Community Foundation, which is helping the tornado-stricken counties of Morgan and Magoffin, and the Foundation for Appalachian Kentucky give local people and expatriates a trusted place to donate money, often by bequests.

As the baby-boom generation begins to pass, billions in wealth will be transferred to succeeding generations -- or to a philanthropic interest. The benefits to be reaped by the local communities, of course, will depend on the amount of charitable donations to their endowments.

The nonprofit community foundations, such as the Bluegrass Community Foundation, are unique tax-exempt organizations that enables individuals, families, businesses and other nonprofit organizations to establish permanent charitable funds to meet current and future community needs. Overseen by a volunteer board of community leaders, the foundations are run by professionals who are experts in local philanthropy and who invest and manage these charitable funds.

- Members of the local oversight board are:
- Chairperson Morgan Smith, legal advisor.
 - Hank Allen, Commercial Bank CEO.
 - Linda Bradley, executive assistant to Judge Executive Tim Conley.
 - Joshua Farrow, Kentucky Infrastructure Authority representative.
 - Langley Franklin, citizen representative.
 - Steve Gavalchik, Morgan County ARH Community CEO.
 - Patty Gibson, of Commercial Bank.
 - Wes Holland, Edward Jones financial advisor.
 - Jodi Stacy, Bank of the Mountains vice president.
 - Gail Wright, Gateway Area Development District executive director.

New tests show schools in need of improvement

Indicate barely 47% of high schl. grads prepared for college

The first results from Kentucky's Unbridled Learning accountability testing indicate that, in 2011-12, slightly more than 47 percent of the state's public high school students were prepared for college and/or careers, the Kentucky Department of Education announced last week.

Schools or districts that scored a percentile of 70 or higher on the new test are classified as proficient or distinguished; schools and districts falling below the 70 percentile mark are classified as needs improvement.

All Morgan County schools are in the latter category. The Morgan County School District posted an overall average score of 53.2 on the test and ranked 108th out of the state's 174 school districts.

Of the more than 43,000 high school students in Kentucky who received diplomas last spring, 18,741 were deemed college ready and 3,413 career ready. That's up from 15,056 found to be college ready and 1,142 career ready the previous year.

This is a nine-percentage-point increase from the 2010-11 school year, for which the average college- and career-readiness rate was 38 percent.

"This increase, which translates to more than 4,500 students, is a direct result of Kentucky's schools' and districts' focus on college and career readiness," said Kentucky Education Commissioner Terry Holliday. "The overriding goal of the state's public education system is to prepare students for the paths they want to take after high school, and these data show that we are making progress toward that goal."

College/Career Readiness is one of five major components of the Unbridled Learning accountability model, which was applied to test scores and other data for the first time for the 2011-12 school year. The data released Nov. 2 is the first from the new model and includes information about Achievement, Gap, Growth, College/Career Readiness and Graduation Rate.

Public schools and school districts receive overall scores on a scale of 0 to 100 in the new model. On average, the statewide school overall score was 55.2. For elementary schools, the average was 57.3; for middle schools, 53.5; and for high schools, 54.8.

Richard Innes, education analyst for the Bluegrass Institute for Public Policy, said people had lost confidence in the former test because many of the students who performed well on it still were ending up in remedial classes in their first year of college.

For some school districts, their standings could mean state intervention.

The new test scores showed Kentucky students have much room for improvement in all subject areas.

"Although more than two-thirds of schools and districts are in the 'needs improvement' category, this is not an indicator of failure," Holliday said.

Innis didn't see it in such a positive light.

"I think Kentucky parents have every right to be concerned at this point," he said.

First Morgan Drug Court participant graduates

The first Morgan County man to successfully complete the county's Drug Court program was recognized at a graduation ceremony Thursday, Nov. 1 at the Morehead County Library at 155 University Drive. The facility has been serving as the temporary Morgan County Courthouse since the county's historic courthouse was destroyed by a tornado March 2.

Circuit Court Judge Rebecca K. Phillips presided over the graduation ceremony. Judge Phillips volunteers her time to conduct proceedings for the Drug Court program that serves Carter, Elliott and Morgan counties, the three counties in her judicial circuit.

Attending the graduation ceremony were law enforcement representatives, elected officials, attorneys and representatives of drug treatment facilities, as well as members of the public.

The Morgan County Drug Court program began in 2009 and has six participants not including the individual who graduated.

Drug Court coordinates the efforts of the judiciary, prosecution, defense bar, probation, law enforcement, mental health, social services and treatment communities to actively intervene and break the cycle of substance abuse, addiction and crime. The program consists of three phases that last at least one year and are followed by aftercare. Drug Court staff and participants work together to develop individual program plans with specific responsibilities and goals with timetables. Plans include group, family and individual counseling; frequent and random urine testing; education and vocational training; scheduled payments of restitution, child support and court fees; and health and community activities. Participants report directly to their Drug Court judge, who rewards progress and sanctions noncompliance.

When participants successfully complete the program, charges may be dismissed through diversion, or conditional discharge may be granted through probation. Judges who participate in Drug Court volunteer their time to the program.

Coal outlook is poor in Central Appalachia, consultant says

Oct. 17 — Alan Stagg, one of the most respected consultants in the coal industry, told a major industry gathering last month that Central Appalachian coal mining would last at least 10 to 20 more years, but will continue to decline because the job-hungry region's coal is getting more difficult to mine, mainly because of geological limitations but also because of regulations.

"It's going to run out some day — there's a finite amount of coal — but I don't see that happening in 10 or 20 years," Stagg told Pam Kasey of The State Journal, a business-oriented weekly in West Virginia. Stagg, the president and CEO of Stagg Resource Consultants Inc., has been pessimistic about the industry's long-term prospects for several years, but this is his gloomiest forecast yet.

"This is the elephant in the room. No one wants to acknowledge that reserve depletion is profound," Stagg, of Cross Lanes, W.Va., said at Platt's Coal Marketing Days in Pittsburgh on Sept. 21, according to SNL Financial. "Mining conditions are difficult, and the cost to produce is high. That is a physical fact. It's not pleasant. Nobody wants to acknowledge it. That is a fact, and companies that ignore that fact will not do so well. ... And by nature, regulations will always increase."

"Stagg cast such a pall on the Central Appalachia coal industry that West Virginia Coal Association President Bill Ramey, speaking later in the day, said he felt like a 'funeral director'," Darren Epps wrote for SNL. "Stagg expressed optimism, however, in the Powder River Basin" in Wyoming, which overtook West Virginia as the leading coal-producing state many years ago.

BIRTHDAY REMEMBRANCE

In loving memory of my brother, Bunk Stevens, whose birthday is Nov. 12, and passed away June 9, 2011.

When evening shadows are falling and I am sitting quietly alone, In my heart there comes a longing, If only my brother could come back home. But on the beautiful isle of somewhere in the Heaven's beyond the stars. Peacefully resting with Jesus is my wonderful brother. He had a wonderful smile and a heart of gold and to those who knew him and loved him, His memory will never grow old. He had wandered into an unknown land and left us dreaming how very dear think of him as the some and say he is not dead. He is just away. He is sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his family and loved ones.

God bless you dear brother. We'll meet you in Heaven some sweet day around God's great white throne.

Broadway First Church of God

The message this week came from Ecclesiastes 3:1-17 where it speaks about a time to every purpose under heaven which we thought was appropriate with the time changing. In verse six it says a time to get, and a time to lose, just as we gain an hour in the fall and lose an hour in the spring. Man has measured time ever since his creation as God deemed it so when He created light and the evening and the morning were the first day. We measure time by the seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks and years, however we know it is not how many years we live but the life we have in our years that count. Our tombstones give the date of our birth and the date of our death with a small dash in the middle that represents our life. So lets talk about time.

Hosea 10:12 Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the Lord, till he come and rain righteousness upon you. If you haven't sought the Lord yet in your life it is time now. II Corinthians 6:2 For he saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succored thee: behold now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation. Romans 13:11 And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than we believed. Ephesians 5:16 Redeeming the time, because the days are evil. Are you making the best of the time that you are allotted?

I Peter 4:17-18 For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God? And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear? Do you know for sure that you are saved or are you just hoping that God will forgive you at judgment? As the apostle Paul explained to the people at Mars' hill as they worship different idols; that at the times of this ignorance, God winked at: but now cometh all men every where to repent: because he hath appointed a day, in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained. Your time will come just as it will for me, will you be ready to meet the Lord as your judge? Come worship with us, we preach about things like this.

This Sunday we will be honoring our veterans in our morning worship time, we hope you can be a part of that. On Saturday the 17th at 6:00 we will have The Jackson Family from Virginia singing in a special service, make plans to attend. On Sunday the 18th in our morning worship we are having Friends Day, we hope if you are ask, you will be a friend and come worship with us. Until next week may the Lord bless you is our prayer.

Junction News

By Kathy Bolin

Nov. 5--Greetings from the Junction.

By the time you read this article we will have chosen a president for our country. My belief that Obama or Romney, we are still in for rough times in our economy.

Saturday, Sonya Nickell and Jody Oldham were married at the First Church of God, in Ezel. The alter was decorated in a fall theme, bridesmaids were Jody's and Sonya's daughters, and groomsmen were Jody's fellow firefighter friends. Sonya was gorgeous, attired in a white gown, and was given away by her parents, Edward and Mae Benton. The married couple left the church in an awaiting fire truck to a reception at the Blackwater Fire Dept. Beautiful day, beautiful wedding.

My heart goes out to the East Coast, the devastation, and pain those people are going thru. Morgan County experienced some of the same destruction from the tornado that ripped through our town. So, we can pray for these people, because, although their life may seem bleak at the moment, there is light at the end of the tunnel.

Entire staff at EKCC chosen for Governor's Ambassador Award

The entire staff at the Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex has been awarded the Governor's Ambassador Award for Teamwork! EKCC's selection for the prestigious award was in part due to the institution's response to the tornado that struck Morgan County on March 2, 2012. A small group from the institution attended the awards ceremony on Wednesday, Oct. 17, at the Frankfort Convention Center, to accept the award on behalf of the entire EKCC staff. The nomination for the award reads as follows:

"The entire staff went above and beyond to maintain 24 hour operations during the aftermath of the tornado that struck West Liberty and Morgan County, as well as volunteered in some manner to help clean up debris of the 20 EKCC staff members who either had major damage or completely lost their homes. Additionally, nearly all of the staff suffered some level of damage to their homes, vehicles, and/or other property, whether it was damage from the tornado, wind, or hail damage, but they still reported to work as normal. Also, the institution lost electricity for an extended period of time, but all inmates' needs were met without incident, and the event well-managed, all due to their dedication. They also all came together in the community's time of need to assist in emergency operations of the city, participating in search and rescue teams, assisting with the Emergency Management Team, assisting with logistics for Emergency Management, volunteering at donation centers throughout the county, and assisting with cleanup and rebuilding efforts throughout Morgan County. Their dedication to the institution and the community is priceless, and it's for these reasons that the entire EKCC Staff are being commended for a job well-done. We are forever indebted to them for their dedication."

There were 24 nominations for the prestigious Ambassador Award for Teamwork from diverse areas of state government ranging from the Attorney General's Office to the National Guard. In addition to the award, a brick bearing EKCC's name will be permanently embedded at the Home of the Historical Society in Frankfort.

TORNADO SURVIVORS' CORNER

Charles Conley: "I was praying hard"

Charles and Martha Conley live on Stacy Street in West Liberty. Charles was born in the house, and the evening of March 2, he wondered if that is where his life would end as well.

Charles and Martha, along with their son Charles Conley III and his girlfriend, as well as his 4-year-old son and her 5-year-old daughter were at the Stacy Street residence that day.

The family had been watching the weather and keeping an eye on the skies that afternoon. At one point, son Charles had walked out on the porch to survey the sky and came back in to tell the family, "You all had better get to the basement!"

Like a lot of folks, they did not take him too seriously until he stepped back out and came in yelling, "You all get to the basement NOW! I just saw a car fly over the apartments!"

At that point, they took him seriously and hit the basement stairs. The elder Charles was the last one in and said it was all he could do to shut the door. In hindsight, shutting the door seems kind of fruitless because when the storm came knocking it took the door, the roof, some walls and all but the top two stairs leading down to the basement. It also picked up the house and moved it about ten feet back and six feet over from where it had set.

As the family huddled in the basement, Charles said it felt like his face was being sandblasted with the force of the cyclone. Hearing his home come apart above him was a frightening sound. He could hear the roof coming off and the groan of the nails as they were being pried from the wood by the storms fury.

Charles is on oxygen and he had a tank in the basement, but failed to take a regulator with him, so he had no oxygen throughout the ordeal.

"I am a church going man," he said. "So you can imagine that I was praying hard."

In addition to the destruction above their heads, the storm was wrecking havoc around them in the basement. The big central heating and air unit was blown up against the wall and the shelves that Martha had filled with home canned goods was blown over, breaking every jar, and leaving a mine field of broken glass.

Everyone in the family had come downstairs in their sock feet so the glass presented another element of danger for them when they could move. Thankfully, not one of them suffered any cuts.

The storm took all but the top two stairs, trapping them in the hole. The younger Charles was able to grasp the bottom stair and pull himself up to ground level. They had an aluminum ladder outside, which he found in the neighbors yard, and let it down so his family could climb up. Outside they discovered that three of the four vehicles parked there had trees on top of them.

One vehicle, a Ford Explorer, had the back window blown out and some limbs on top of it, but was drivable.

Their driveway was blocked, so they drove through the yard and across the neighbors yard where they got stuck, but the 4-wheel drive saved them. They drove over metal, insulation and wood with protruding nails to Martha's sister's house. When they got there, three of the tires were flat. After fixing the flats, they drove 20 miles to a camper they owned and that is where they spent the night. The next day Charles and Martha's daughter came and got them and took them to her home in Berea, where they were to stay for the next six months.

In the months since the storm, their home has been rebuilt over top of the basement that sheltered them from the fury that day.

The younger Charles and his girlfriend have since married.

Charles's grandson doesn't even like to talk about the weather and, I'm sure, like most of us, he cringes when the sky turns black and the wind picks up.

No matter what they lost, the most precious thing was saved and that was their very lives. It is scary to think about what could have been, but as so many others that day, they escaped the worst of what a tornado can do. And I am sure it did not hurt that as Charles said, he was praying hard.

Local Self-Help Home ownership program

Frontier Housing OK'd to build 15 homes for families in this area

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 25 —The Housing Assistance Council (HAC) is partnering with 19 organizations in 10 states, including Frontier Housing in Kentucky, to build 385 self-help homes for low and moderate-income families. HAC provides financing for these projects using $5.3 million in funds from the federal Self-Help Homeownership Opportunity Program (SHOP), which is administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and $922,345 from other sources.

Frontier Housing, headquartered in Morehead, Ky., will be funded to complete 15 self-help homes in its coverage area.

Through the SHOP program, families develop sweat-equity in the construction of their homes and create a sense of community by assisting their neighbors with the construction of their homes as well. "The self-help housing model illustrates the huge investment of time and energy low-income homebuyers are willing to make to build their own communities. As families build homes together, they create stable, affordable neighborhoods," said Moises Loza, HAC's Executive Director. "HAC is proud to work with local organizations across the nation to help families pursue their goals of homeownership."

Local affiliates leverage resources from a variety of private and public sources to provide this affordable housing opportunity to low- and moderate-income homebuyers. Many of the families participating in HAC-funded SHOP projects obtain low-interest mortgage loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's homeownership program. By leveraging critical resources, including use of volunteer labor when possible, self-help housing producers are able to create affordable, sustainable homeownership opportunities for low-income homebuyers.

SHOP funds cover costs associated with land acquisition and infrastructure improvements. Community-based organizations will supervise homebuying families who work together in groups to construct their own homes and their neighbors'. HAC's local SHOP affiliates can use up to $15,000 per unit for eligible development. They are responsible for all construction activities, including securing additional funding, preparing sites, training families, and managing the self-help process.

Since the inception of the SHOP program, HAC has been awarded funding to produce 8,711 units of affordable housing for families. HAC's local partners have completed 7,957 homes and are on track to finish 9,010.

Mah Jong lessons slated Nov. 13 at MSU at W. Liberty

Mah Jong, which gained popularity in America in the 1920s, is an ancient tile game of Asian origin that is played with four players seated around a table. Tiles are shuffled, dice are cast, rituals involve the allocation of tiles and the game begins.

The first person to match a hand of 14 tiles and thus call "Mah-Jong" ends the game. Tiles are then scored, and a winner is proclaimed.

The lesson will be broken down into two sections. The first 45 minutes will be spent on rules and the second section (about 2 hours), participants will be divided into groups of four where they will play the game under the eye of an experienced player.

Caney Valley News

By Tracey B. Hatton

Nov. 5--Hello again from Caney Valley. We now know who our next president is of the United States. We need to pray for the leaders of our country. Our leaders need to take on the responsibility to read Psalms 9:17. This wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God." WAKE UP UNITED STATES: WAKE UP FROM COAST TO COAST: WAKE UP VICTIMS OF HURRICANE SANDY AND WAKE UP RESIDENTS OF MORGAN COUNTY: This is an urgent message. People heed the calling. It is high time we wake up! We need to read Matthew 24. We need to realize every day that we live; we are drawing nearer to the end. We don't know when the end will be and cannot even begin to guess, however we can be ready. From the time we were born we start dying. We need to be a prepared people. We have a sign on our barn that states "Prepare to meet thy God." You can read the verses in Amos 4:12-13. This is not just a sign to read and think it is not for me. This is a sign for everyone to read. We need to prepare to meet God through Jesus Christ. We are in a daily battle. In Ephesians 6:12, "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." While surfing through the channel guide the other evening, there is a new show on Sunday evenings called "666 Park Avenue." Now you may not think anything of this, but it really bothered me. We need to realize that Satan will use any means to get across his work. Satan is crafty and sly and this is just another mode that he uses to reach the world. He does not want people to serve the Lord. Sundays is recognized as the Lord's Day and Satan will use any means to take honor and glory from the Lord. As you read this you may think, "So what it is just a TV title and it doesn't mean anything." Why would you want to associate yourself with anything that would honor Satan? In Revelation 13:15-18, this is talking about the beast which is Satan. "And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed." "And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads and that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. Here is wisdom, let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of man; and his number is six hundred threescore and six. 1st Timothy 6:10. "For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows." There is a remedy for all these things going on in the world. There is a remedy for evil. That remedy is JESUS. In the very next verses 11-12, "But thou, O man of God flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, where unto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses." We have hope, not in this world, but in our eternal land of peace, love, and joy. Let not the troubles of this world bog you down, but give your heart to the Lord to strengthen you so you can stand against Satan. This is the whole armor of God found in Ephesians chapter 6, read this and let it give you strength, hope, peace and joy.

Prayer requests: Larry Adams, Janice Mitchell, Michael Sheets, Joyce Jones, Jim Sparks, Andrea Vance, McKenna Conley, Bro. Bud Angus, Ryan Stacy, Glenn Crase, Georgia Taulbee, Joshua Dye, Bro. James Allen, Bro. Tim and Sarilda Clark, Adam Allen, Larry Allen, Everene Havens, Sheena Harper, Stanley and Avanell Whisman, Patty and Cecil Griffin, Berchlene and Woodford Henry, Joanie and Harold Barker, Bill Gullett, H.C. Prater, Timothy Vance, Joretta Oney, Edith Fife, Shirley Stevens, Troy Sanders, Jon Sanders, Rhonda Ison, Troy Dye, Mildred Mays, Wayne and Della Banks. Always remember the lost.

When you read the ones on the prayer list, take a moment and speak out their names to the Lord. We know that there is a need in their life and by coming together as a whole and prayerful group we allow ourselves to be used by the Lord and we stand in the gap. I know I appreciate people praying for me. Let's take the time to do this.

The fall festival at Morgan Central was a huge success and everyone seems to have had a great time. The dunking booth and cake walk along with the other games were big successes. The crowd was great and the PTO wants to thank all who worked tirelessly to see that this event went off without a hitch and to all the students, families and friends who came to support our school. PTO also had McDonald's Cards for sale. They are coupons for buy one get one free and there are different items listed. They are $10 each and it is well worth the money. If anyone is interested please contact the school at 743-8552 and speak with Lisa Hoskins or Becky Roseberry.

Edwin Benton called the other evening and wanted to invite folks to Caney First Church of God. They will be having a guest speaker on Sunday, Nov. 18, at 10 a.m. Bro. Stan Schilffarth, from Lexington, will be bringing the morning message.

Happy Anniversaries: Stanley and Avanell Whisman, 53 years.

Happy Birthdays: Pam Allen, William Holbrook, Layla Perry, Shaye Perkins, Regan Lindon, Tabby Conley, Courtney Wilder, and Dr. Frederick.

May the Lord bless and keep you.

Begin preparation for 4-H Country Ham Pjt.

It is time again to get started preparing for the 4-H Country Ham Project. This will make our third year offering this project. Youth register for the country ham project at the Morgan County Extension Office. Youth fill out a contract to complete the project, and give a 3-5 minute presentation at the KY State Fair in August. Each child who signs the contract receives two hams to work with. The Country Ham club purchases the hams with the intention of auctioning the ham at the Sorghum Festival. The club pays for the hams up-front and then at auction the youth will pay their half of the cost. This year each member made a profit off their ham. For more information contact the Morgan County Extension Office at 743-3292. Forms are available at the office and are due by December 5th. C-11-8-3t

Local court judges at Circuit Judges College Oct. 29-31

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 5— Circuit Court Judge Rebecca K. Phillips and Family Court Judge David D. Flatt (who serve Carter, Elliott and Morgan counties) participated in the 2012 Kentucky Circuit Judges College that took place Oct. 29-31 in Lexington. The Administrative Office of the Courts provided the judicial education program for the state's Circuit Court judges. The event included 19.25 hours of continuing education credit for the judges.

The judges received updates on case law and legislation and attended sessions on the Open Records Act, child support and domestic violence and met with legislators and other officials to discuss legislation on child fatalities and near fatalities. The judges also heard from Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. about the work of the Kentucky Access to Justice Commission, which was formed to identify the most pressing legal needs of those unable to afford lawyers and create a statewide plan to address those needs.

The college also offered sessions specifically for Family Court judges that covered child abuse, parental rights, maintenance (spousal support) and electronic recordings of Family Court proceedings. There was also a session for the judges to discuss trends and issues in family law cases. Family Court is a division of Circuit Court and has primary jurisdiction in cases involving family issues, including divorces, adoption, child support, domestic violence and juvenile status offenses.

Your Social Security A Social Security Card And Number Lesson

Are you looking to replace your Social Security card just because you don't have it? Then rest assured; you really don't need to replace it. What's most important is that you remember your Social Security number.

Remember, during your formal education, when you used to memorize passages from a book, or answers for a test? In the same way, you should memorize your Social Security number. Knowing your Social Security number is important when it comes to work, taxes, banking, and other types of business. Treat your number as confidential information and keep it protected. Memorizing your number means you don't need to carry your Social Security card with you unless you need to show it to your employer. Keep it in a safe place with your other important papers.

If you really do need to get a replacement card, it's easy to apply for a new one. Simply complete an Application for a Social Security card (Form SS-5) and show us original documents providing your U.S. citizenship or immigration status, age, and identity. The application includes examples of documents you may need;

Noah Kelsey finished well enough to advance to the State XC Meet this coming Saturday. He is the first Morgan XC runner to do so in five years.

Kelsey advances to State XC Meet

The Morgan County Varsity Cross Country Boys and Girls teams competed at the Class 2A, Region 6 Championships this past Saturday, November 3. The meet was contested in Maysville, and hosted by Mason County High School. The weather was cold, windy and spitting rain — the course in decent shape despite a week's worth of rain in Kentucky.

Junior Noah Kelsey advanced to the State Cross Country meet by virtue of his performance this past weekend! Noah ran an excellent 18:55 for the 5K (3.1 mile) distance to place 21st overall in the boys race. His time was a 1:40 improvement over his previous best this season, a remarkable jump to say the least. The top 5 individuals from non-qualifying teams make the jump to the State Meet. Noah was third in that group.

Three other Varsity boys made the trip north to compete. Justin Vanhooze finished 40th in a time of 20:49. Vanhooze accomplished a rare and difficult "double" this fall, competing in both football and cross country. Ryan Steele ran 21:48 to finish 43rd, while Josh Lane ran a PR (personal record) to clock 23:09 (48th spot).

On the ladies' side, Destiny Robbins was timed in 24:44 to finish 35th. Halley Wilson ran 26:46 to place 45th overall.

Coaches Charlie Bolin and Teila Cottle expressed their satisfaction with the performance of their varsity athletes, especially given the adverse weather conditions. They also noted that with Noah Kelsey headed to the State Meet this coming Saturday, it marks the first time in five years that Morgan County has qualified at least one runner to compete at State.

Kailee Perry finishes

Perry 4th at State XC, Girls Team places 7th

Morgan County's own Kailee Perry finished fourth at the Grade School State Cross Country Championships on Saturday, October 27. The meet was held at Masterson Station Park in Lexington and is sponsored by the Kentucky Track and Cross Country Coaches Association.

Kailee overcame a cold, damp day and a wet, muddy course to post an excellent time of 12:28 for the 3K (1.8 mile) distance. She finished only 17 seconds behind the winner, Devin Mayfield from Pulaski County. Some 340 runners competed in the race.

The Morgan County elementary girls also performed well as a team, finishing in 7th position, out of 36 full squads in the race. Burns Elementary took the team title with a low score of 75 points. The Morgan girls totaled 275, but were only a few points away from the fifth place slot.

Sixth-grader Amber Cornett ran 13:18 to place 36th for the Morgan girls, while fourth grader Krysta Perry was close behind, finishing 47th with a time of 13:28.

Grace Litteral placed 168th with a clocking of 15:19. Faith Bolin ran 15:26 to take the 185th spot. Both of these young ladies are fifth graders.

Little Janesey Lewis ran the Girls 4th and under 2000 meter race (1 1/4 mile) in a time of 10:08 to place 118th out of 231 runners. She was one of only 10 first graders in the State 4th and under championship race.

In addition, Justin Vanhooze and Josh Lane competed in the Boys Varsity 5000 meter race (3.1 miles). Justin ran 20:45 and Josh 23:18 — there were 414 boys in that portion of the meet.

It was an excellent way to finish out the season for the younger Cougar harriers. The KTCCCA State Middle & Grade School Championship wraps up the season for those youngsters who are not yet old enough to compete at the High School level. A seventh place team finish and a top 5 individual finish by Kailee Perry bodes well for the coming years of Morgan County XC.

you can find the application at www.socialsecurity.gov/ssnumber. Then, take or mail your completed application and documents to your local Social Security office. We will mail your Social Security card to you.

Lower Elkfork

By Alpha Clevenger

Nov. 5--Sympathy is extended to the family of Buster Cox. May God bless and comfort you all in your loss. I know how you feel. I have lost my husband a long time ago. You never get over losing him but try to go on without him, but it's so hard to do. Trust in he Lord and He'll give you new strength and courage. Get well wishes to the sick and shutins. May God restore your health.

Alpha talked to Joy on Tuesday. They were fine and enjoying their nice home. She said they got their front porch made, and it sure looked good. They also got their back porch repaired. They are both nice.

Dempsey went deer hunting on Saturday and killed a nice, fat doe on his second time out. He was well pleased with his good luck. He was hunting near his mother's home on Lower Elkfork.

Alpha was Thursday guest of Joy and family, of Woodsbend, I was so glad to visit her. She and I ate lunch together. I presented Joy with some nice hanging baskets and some other plants. She was pleased with them.

I met up with Alta Blevins at McDonald's on Friday. Good to see her again and talk to her. She's always nice and friendly, and the same. I always loved her as a friend.

Tammy Celina called recently. Good to talk to her. She's always friendly and makes me laugh. Call again Miss Tammy.

I attended church at Lick Fork Sunday night. Rev. Eugene Haney and Velma were there. I didn't know they were going to be there until I saw them there. I was glad to be there in service with them. They are such good and nice people. I've known them for years. They are always the same.

Irene called the other day. Good to hear from her. She's a good friend and always the same. God bless you.

Barry came on Saturday and took off my garbage, and burned leaves as we hadn't had the time to rake very many or burn them. It had rained a little and that's a good time to burn leaves.

Forest Service waives rec. fees for Veteran's Day

WINCHESTER, Ky., Nov. 5 — In honor of Veterans Day, the Daniel Boone National Forest is waiving fees at several recreation areas. The fee waivers apply to all forest visitors at designated locations.

Camping fees are waived at the following national forest locations on Friday, November 9 through Monday, November 12:

- Red River Gorge in Powell, Menifee and Wolfe counties

down our way and called to check on us. How nice and thoughtful that was of them. We appreciate that so much that's the first one that ever checked on us. Thanks for your concern. If you and your family ever need us, let us know. We'd try very hard to help you out. That's what we're suppose to do, help someone in need. I believe in that the Bible says "love thy neighbor as thy self". I want to love my neighbors as myself. We all need more love for our fellow man.

Dempsey came Saturday and went deer hunting real early, and today was a big jack frost and real cold. He said he saw some but never killed one.

Dempsey came again and went deer hunting but didn't get one. He said he saw a lot of does but didn't see any bucks. He couldn't kill a doe because he already killed one.

We always listen to Rev. Vernon Lewis on the radio station W.L.K.S 1450 West Liberty every Sunday at 1:00 PM. He always does a great job preaching. Preaches just what it takes and gives the old devil a black eye. He don't beat around the bush. He preaches the gospel truth. Keep up the good work. We also listen to Helen Lewis and singers. They come on at 12:00 on W.L.K.S. West Liberty, and I go and help them out sometimes. I love to help them out. I can't do a lot but I love to do a little something for the good Lord. At least I try.

The Lord has done so much for me down through the years. When I was down and out, and didn't think I could make it through another month, the Lord always made a way for me and I always thanked Him for all he did for me. He's the best friend we ever had. He never leaves us nor forsakes us. What would we do in this wicked world of sin and trouble, sorrow, heartaches and disappointment if we didn't have Him to call upon when we are in need of a Savior? I love Him with all my heart, soul, mind and strength.

Belated happy birthday to my brother, Addie Earl Stevens, and many more on Nov. 3. God bless you. I love you. You are special to me.

How are you Sandra Carpenter? I enjoy your column. Keep up the good work.

How are you Sherry Bailey? Hope you and yours are well. I enjoy your column. Keep the news coming.

Happy birthday to Julie Elizabeth on Nov. 12. God bless you. We all love you. You are sweet and beautiful. With love, Mamaw Alpha.

I talked to Ann recently. She said she was going on a vacation in Tennessee. Hope you had a good trip.

Little Learners Display Their Artwork

Little Learners class was held at Morgan Central Elementary library, and taught by AmeriCorps member Mrs. Karen Standafer on November 2. Three little learners shown are Belle, Hudson and Daniel; they are presenting the turkeys they made after mixing and then painting their hands. They listened to music from Mickey Mouse and enjoyed dancing to the "Wheels on the Bus"; they also enjoyed a story about "Five Silly Turkeys" by Salina Yoon. We would like to thank the staff from the cafeteria for the nutritious snack of oranges and milk. Please join us in December at Morgan Central Elementary School; we will be making a special Christmas craft. Call us at Family Resource Center at 743-8432 and at Ezel Elementary at 725-8208 for December dates. We are looking forward to having children ages 3-5 join us, for an educational fun filled hour.

Veterans Day program

As a part of a Service Learning Project for AmeriCorps, MSUCorps members Karen Standafer and Heather Bryant taught students at Morgan Central Elementary School about Veterans Day. Students in kindergarten through fifth grade learned several facts about the national holiday including that Veterans Day was once called Armistice Day, that the date of November 11 holds historical significance, and that Veterans Day is a day to thank and honor all those who have served our country in any branch of the military. After the lesson, the students worked on creating thank you cards for veterans. These very special cards will be delivered to local Morgan County veterans attending the Veterans Day program at Morgan County High School on Friday, Nov. 9. Pictured below are some of the students with their cards. Back row L-R: MSUCorps Member Heather Bryant, Maddison Holbrook, Christin Frederick, Autumn Davis, Isaac Gevedon, Timothy Smith, and MSUCorps Member Karen Standafer; front row L-R: Jayden McCarty, Dylan Bailey, Baylee Standafer, and William Bailey.

Happy Birthday

To Julie Elizabeth Collinsworth
On Nov. 12th
God bless you we all love you very much. You are a beautiful little girl.
With Love,
Adam, Katie, William, Sarah, Laura, Grant, Mamaw Cathie, Papaw Barry, Mamaw Alpha, and other relatives.

A Funny
A friend's son was in the first grade. His teacher asked the class, "What is the color of apples?" Most of the children answered red. A few said green. Kevin, my friend's son, raised his hand and said white. The teacher tried to explain that apples can be red, green or sometimes golden, but never white. Kevin was quite insistent and finally said, "Look inside."

Lily May Ledford: Coon Creek Girl - 1917-1985

When Lily May Ledford was a young girl in the Red River Gorge of eastern Kentucky, she wanted a fiddle so badly that she traded her most precious possession — a box of crayons — for a broken-down instrument that didn't have strings or tuning pegs or a bow. But that fiddle turned out to be a good deal because it helped launch Ledford to stardom in country music, although she became better known for her banjo picking than her fiddling. Ledford was a pioneer in bringing what she called "my music from the firesides and porches of our humble dwellings in the Kentucky mountains" to a national audience.

Born in a remote section of Powell County, Lily May Ledford was the seventh of 14 children. Her parents, Daw White and Stella May Ledford, were tenant farmers. The family raised, hunted, caught, or traded for everything it had. Her grandfather was a left-handed fiddler, her father was also a musician. When he played the banjo and fiddle, Lily May was spellbound. At an early age she started playing any instrument she could get her hands on — she was about 8 when she traded for the broken fiddle. Within a week she had fixed it and taught herself to play every tune she had ever heard.

The family moved down the Red River to a more populous area when Lily May was about 12. Soon she and two siblings — sister Rosie and other brother Coyen — were playing for church sings, square dances and many other local events. They added a neighbor named Morgan Skidmore and formed a band, the Red River Ramblers, which became known throughout the county. When Skidmore's relatives from Indiana came for a visit, they persuaded the group to go north for an audition at WLS Radio in Chicago. The station liked Lily May best, and she soon landed a five-year contract and a spot on WLS's National Barn Dance.

Ledford reported to her new job in Chicago in 1936. She was 19 years old and country to the core. She came in for a lot of teasing, but with the help of two native Kentuckians — WLS music manager John Lair and fellow singer Red Foley — Ledford was soon enjoying her new life at a salary of $60 a week. Lair had told Ledford that he wanted to put together an all-girl string band featuring her distinctive clawhammer banjo style. When Lily's sister, Rosie, came to live in Chicago, Lair liked her playing and singing and decided to team the Ledfords with two other young women, "Daisy" Lange and "Violet" Koehler. Thus was born the legendary, and first, all-female string band, the Coon Creek Girls.

For two decades the Coon Creek Girls were featured on John Lair's Renfro Valley Barn Dance radio program, which began in Cincinnati but soon moved to Renfro Valley, Ky. An early highlight for the group was an invitation to play at the White House in 1939. Along with Kate Smith, Marian Anderson and others, the Coon Creek Girls were part of a program performed for President and Mrs. Roosevelt and their guests, the King and Queen of England. They opened their set with "How Many Biscuits Can You Eat?" Ledford said the president clearly enjoyed their music, and that they knew they had even reached the King when, without softening his stony countenance, he started tapping his foot. In 1939, Daisy and Violet left the group and were replaced by a third Ledford sister, Minnie, who was known as Black-Eyed Susie. The Coon Creek Girls disbanded in 1957.

Lily May Ledford and her husband, Glenn Pennington, had three children. Ledford is buried in the Berea Cemetery.
